Dear Jim & Vickie,

The weather has turned quite warm since you left, - although I suppose not hot by your standards - is in the mid 80's. I have been keeping our fan on all night so I can get to sleep.

Mom & Dad came over the other night after mom picked Dad up from work. He works only a ^{few} ~~couple~~ block away, so they stopped for a drink in order to miss the rush hour traffic. They ended up staying for dinner, and afterwards we played 3-handed bridge, as Mike had to go out. It was hard getting

Wad away from the Judiciary hearings, which were being televised then.

I went to my doctor's appointment today, and he showed me where the baby's head is and had me feel it. I imagine the baby didn't appreciate that too much, though. My weight is just right according to my doctor, although I feel just huge. I've become so accustomed to being big that I can't remember ever feeling thin.

Did you have fun with your friend on the way home? I bet it's fun now, though, getting your house all arranged. Since you invited all the relatives back - I hope they don't all come at once. LOVE MARY
